

Would you have good BUSINESS ETHICS?

Ethics is basically figuring out what's right and wrong, and why we choose to do the right thing, even when it's difficult.

It's not just about following rules – it's making good choices.

ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS HONESTLY.

1 You are in charge of your school's fundraiser. A classmate offers to 'boost' sales by pretending more people have donated than actually have. What should you do?

- A Let them help - it's for a good cause
- B Accept - but only if no one finds out
- C Say no - honesty matters, even if it's a good cause
- D Do it once, to meet your goal

2 Your friend starts a clothing business and uses designs they found on someone else's Instagram without asking. Is this okay?

- A Yes, because it's just for a small business
- B No, because it's stealing someone else's work
- C Yes, as long as they change it slightly
- D Yes, if they don't make money from it

3 You are working part-time at a smoothie shop. Your best friend asks you to give them a free drink and not ring it up. What's the right thing to do?

- A Give them the drink - it's just one
- B Say no - it's stealing from your employer
- C Give a discount instead
- D Wait until the manager leaves and then give it to them

4 A new pizza place in town wants to beat its competition. They spread false rumours about the other place's food. Is this OK?

- A Yes, business is about winning
- B Only if it's funny and gets attention
- C No, lying to hurt competitors is wrong
- D Yes, as long as no one finds out

5 Your friend runs a small online store selling second-hand clothing. They get a bad 'service review' from a customer. They want to delete it to keep their rating high. What should they do?

- A Delete the review - it's bad for business
- B Leave the review and respond politely
- C Argue with the customer in the comments
- D Ignore it completely and hope it goes away
